LABRADOR...

Land of caribou, moose and towering rock faces

Labrador encompasses more than 150,000 square miles of pristine wilderness. Here, the air is clean, the waters are pure and the people equally unspoiled. Labrador boasts more than 60% of North America's salmon rivers, the largest black bears on the continent, one of the world's most populous caribou herds and the most concentrated moose population on the planet.

Triple Dare can design an adventure where, in as short as six days or as long as three weeks, you can fish for trophy brook trout and wild Atlantic salmon, canoe or kayak across secluded lakes to native villages and share rich cultural experiences with indigenous tribes.

See the rugged coastline from a sea kayak or on foot where jagged rock walls tower thousands of feet with villages nestled in and around hundreds of coves, guts, bays and

"Our arrival by seaplane was the perfect way to begin the trip. The view from the air was magnificent - unspoiled land that seemed to go on forever."

"A herd of caribou that watched us curiously as we photographed them."

to know the most distinctive festivals and the most beautiful locations offering local delicacies and access to the most exciting traditions.

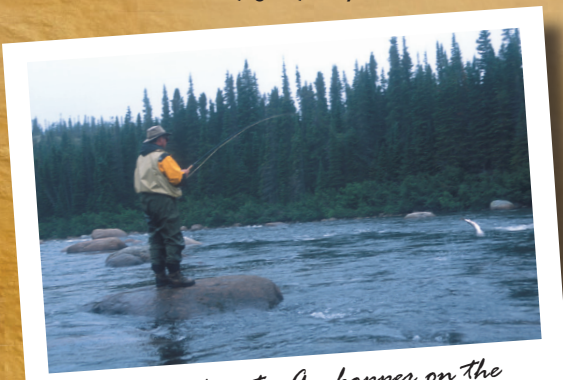

A Triple Dare adventure to Labrador will leave you with a cleansed soul and a yearning to return to this land of unspoiled grandeur.
